FROM THE BARON & BARONESS:

Greetings to all the wonderful people from Sacred Stone,

We hope everyone had a happy and meaningful Holiday. 2012 is looking like it's going to be a wonderful year. We need help from all of you to get the Barony charged up and going at top speed again! Thanks to everyone who let us know how they felt about the Canton situation. And also thanks to those who stepped up to take offices or to extend their warrant.

I and my group of little green elves will be working on baronial tabards for the Heralds and the Equestrian Champion. If you are interested in helping, send me an email. Soon, we will be needing items for gift baskets. I will be posting Barony colors and lists of items that could be purchased or made for these baskets. More work for the little green elves coming up!

We are looking forward Kingdom 12th Night and then Verses of the Stone. Please join us for both those events. If anyone would like to retain for us at either of these events, please get in touch with Lady Aine O Grienan at twolfpax@yahoo.com.

FROM THE SENESCHALE:

Greetings to the Barony!

Well we have ended a year and are beginning another. Time flies when you are having fun! This past year has been very active and from the looks of it the coming year will be as well! I have signed up to be the Seneschal for another 2 year term so it looks like you all are stuck with me for a while longer! On that note, I am looking for a Deputy that wants to learn about the job and might want to look at applying to replace me when the time comes. It is a fairly straight forward job (believe me if I can do it you can do it!) and an exciting one in a Barony this active and diverse.

This past month I attempted to control the amount of time the Barony Meeting takes by limiting the time of the reports. This seemed to work fairly well. It cut about 15 minutes off of a meeting that had a lot of new business to get through. I will be continuing this as I think that it is a good goal to try and get the meeting down to about 1 1/2 hrs and not over 2 hrs.

I hope that everyone has ended 2011 on a high note. I look forward to serving the Barony in 2012 and to seeing you all very soon!

Lady Murienne

FROM THE OFFICERS:

From the Minister of the Lists: Lady Amye Barrington

To my knowledge we have not welcomed any new MOLs to the barony and to my knowledge as of this moment only one of our MOLs needs to renew. We have had several events this year and all had an MOL and went wonderfully as far as I know. We have Verses planned in the future as well as St. Urho's and a few others. Nothing super exciting to report except that I am looking for a deputy and would like all the MOLs in the Barony to send me an e-mail copy of their reports for the events they do. I am attempting to coordinate people who need MOLs with the MOLs who will be able to assist them and this will help a lot in that effort. Otherwise it has been a great year and I look forward to next year!

Lady Amye E. Barrington Baronial MOL for Sacred Stone

From the Heavy Marshal: Baron Johan von Rothenburg

The first year in office has passed quickly. As Baronial Marshal I see my role as supporting and assisting the local marshallate in fulfilling their duties. To that end one focus has been to ensure that we have warranted marshals to fill those offices by helping to make sure the marshal rosters have been kept up to date and that there were fewer lapses due to classes or membership than we started the year with. In this effort I have seen success. We were able to get lapsed marshals renewed and have a number of individuals working on their apprenticeships. A strong marshallate is required to support a strong schedule of marshal activities.

The Barony of Sacred Stone does have a strong schedule of activities in almost all the various disciplines. Archery is going strong and that community is self-sustaining. The Rapier community in all its forms and the heavy armored communities continue to flourish. Equestrian as well. We have practices and events that provide venues for all of these and I look forward to the New Year and the many events that will provide the showcase for all these talented people.

But events require people to run them. We are still in need of a deeper slate of marshals if we are to support the various activities as we go forward. I ask that any participant in a marshal activity consider training as a marshal in that activity so that the burden of running those activities does not always fall on the same shoulders. The current marshallate in the barony is drawn from your friends. Those friends also enjoy participating. Many hands make light work and this is a volunteer organization, so volunteer.

Speaking of which, I could use a deputy. Even if you are not currently a warranted marshal I can help guide you through the training program. I am sure there are other opportunities out there. So get active and get involved. I look forward to seeing as many as possible of you on the field next year. Be safe.

Johann Von Rothenburg

Sacred Stone Baronial Marshal

From the Chronicler: Lady Caitlin MacDonoughue

Thank you to all who contributed to the Phoenix this past year. I have several new things in mind for the upcoming year. I look forward to hearing from all of you with your letters, articles and projects. You will be hearing about changes that are coming with the Acorn going online. Please make note of those changes as they affect you if you are currently receiving the Acorn. I look forward to serving as your voice in the new year and making the Phoenix even better.

In Service,
Lady Caitlin

From the Minister of Arts and Sciences: Lady Maeve Griffinsward

Twelfth Night is drawing close; I hope you are making wonderful presents for your friends and loved ones. Of course, right after Twelfth Night is our own Verses of the Stone and I can't wait to see what new projects our artisans will have to amaze us with. A mere two weeks after that is Kingdom Arts & Sciences Festival which is coming up in February, in Spotsylvania, VA. Are you working on your displays? A month after that, the first weekend of March, Sacred Stone will host Winter University.

As you can see, just in the first few months of the coming year, there will be many opportunities to show off the wonders our barony can produce and to share our knowledge. I'm hoping to include some regular meetings/workshops on topics of interest to all of us. If you have something you particularly want to learn, or even better, teach, please contact me.

And remember, our Coronets and Crowns are always in need of largesse for gift baskets, award medallions and the cording that the awards hang from, show off your artistic talents and share with all of us.

If you've made anything, participated in a bardic activity, tested some period recipes, etc., let me, your MoAS, know about it. It's hard to file a quarterly report when one knows of nothing on which to report...

As always, I am happy to provide feedback or assistance on matters relating to arts & sciences.

Maeve

From the Chancellor of Minors: Lady Ealasaid MacDonald

Greetings Sacred Stone,

I have been the warranted Chancellor Minor for about six months now. There have been several changes that have been made in regards to my office. The major change was the title of my office changing from Minister of Minors to Chancellor Minor. This was an update to keep it in line with Kingdom. There is also a Youth page on the Barony website.

Our youth have been busy this past year, William Spearbane was appointed the Baronial Youth Archery Champion and Hamza of Middlegate was appointed the Baronial Youth Artisan. Klaus of Charlesbury Crossing, Giuletta (Juliet) of Middlegate and Hamza of Middlegate shot IKAC this past year enabling Atlantia to place 2nd in the Youth Division.

Remember, children should be encouraged to participate in a variety of age-appropriate activities within the SCA. Depending on age and maturity, children enjoy helping in kitchens, serving feast, youth combat, archery, and more.

In Service,
Lady Ealasaid MacDonald
Chancellor Minor

From the Baronial Webminister : Lady Annora Hall

Greetings Sacred Stone,

It has been a busy year for the web minister's office and its deputies. During this short time, the web minister's office has met or surpassed many of our short term goals outlined in our first article in March of 2011. These goals included bringing our current web page into compliance with Kingdom policy, refining and simplifying our website code as well as updating content.

Changes during 2012 include updating our links to include a creative works release, adding a baronial calendar to the Events page, and, once released, a link to the electronic version of the Acorn. As always, volunteers to the web ministry office are welcome – my deputies and I would be happy to teach you what we know about web page and list management.

We wish the Barony a great start to the new year!

In Service,
Lady Annora Hall

Crois Brigitte:

Greetings to The Great Barony of The Sacred Stone,

The Canton of Crois Brigitte started out the year hosting our own 12th Night celebration for our Christmas Party and ended the year in December with our traditional Christmas Party.

We have held regular archery practices across the canton including Mocksville, Kernersville, Winston Salem, and Rural Hall and monthly business meetings.

In February we did a demo for Cub Scout Pack 909. In March we did a demo for Moore Elementary School. In May we did a demo for Redeemer School. In June we did a demo for Bolton Elementary School and four demos for Cub Scout Camp at Raven Knob. We held a Newcomer Social in August.

In April we enjoyed the celebration and investiture of our new Baron and Baroness and the pride of them being part of our canton family. To be followed closely by our signature event SAAD which was autocrated by Lord Geffrei Maudeleyne. We supported Baronial Unevent in June. One of our own, Barunin Gisela vom Kreuzbach, autocrated Known World Heraldic and Scribes at the end of June. We hosted In A Phoenix Eye in November which was autocrated by Lady Aine O Grienan. In addition our members have helped with numerous events throughout the barony and the kingdom.

May the year to come be equally productive and enjoyable.

Lord Robyn A'Dearg
Seneschal of Crois Brigitte

Middle Gate:

Over the past year the Canton of Middlegate has remained very active. The Canton ran Songs of the Stone, hosted the Baronial Unevent and put on fundraisers to benefit both the Canton and the Barony. Members of the Canton have volunteered to help at many events over the past year and have also supported various activities of surrounding Cantons. We continue to grow, having introduced some new people to the SCA, and having SCA members for other areas move to the Canton.

Lord Symon de Ipswich

Troy Petersen

Meeting Minutes

The baronial business meeting was held on December 18th., 2011 at Bunker Hill High School. This was in conjunction with the Holiday party and potluck.

The meeting went as follows:

Coronets' report:

Baroness Sine has opened her home to work on Baronial regalia the week after Christmas. If anyone is interested in helping, they should contact her.

Seneschal's Report:

Unevent Report: Several things were discussed as items of interest from Unevent. Seneschals no longer have term limits.

The polling process for baronial pollings has changed to a limit of 2-4 pairs of candidates. The 150 mile rule for events refers to 150 miles as you drive. Events must be at least 150 miles apart if they occur on the same date as to not conflict. If an event will occur on the same date as a Kingdom event, that event must wait for the Kingdom event to post before they can Spike their event.

Exchequer's Report:

Current checkbook balance is $10,150.50

Any outstanding checks (especially those from WoW) need to be cashed before the end of the year so Edmund will not have to carry them into the new year's books.

MOL's Report:

No new MOLs in barony. She is still looking for a deputy. She would like to see the baronial MOLs send her a copy of their reports.

Heavy Marshal's Report:

See officers' letter.

From the Officers:

Archery Marshal's Report:

Plans are being made for archery practices in several locations in the barony. Archers are lining up to be chosen for the Tourney of Roses.

Rapier Marshal:

Still looking for someone to fill this position

Minister of the Arts and Sciences Report:

See Officer's Letters

Chronicler's Report:

According to information gained at Unevent, an email authorization is not sufficient for publication of photos and personal information in the newsletter. Permission forms will be made available to all officers. Baron Talorgen filled in the group with information about the changes to the Acorn as it prepares to go online. If you want a printed copy, there will be a charge. Policies are being modified so that officers are not required to have a hard copy of the Acorn.

Web Minister's Report

The Baronial website has been updated. Settings are being changed so that the Seneschale can update the calendar. See Officer's Letters

Chatelaine's Report::

Lady Nuala appreciates loaner garb that she has received . 10 tabards have been made from fabric provided by the barony for newcomers. Still need garb for men in particular and belts. Chatelaine's meeting went very well at Unevent.

Chancellor of Minors Report

No report

Herald's Report:

There was an issue with the badge for the Order of The Sacred Stone in the O&A. It is in the process of being corrected. Lady Prudence will be on hiatus during tax season. Lady Elaisaid will act as her deputy. Anyone needing assistance during this time, please contact Lady Elaisaid.

Chirurgeon's Report:

Lady Elizabeth of Rosewood (Shrewlet) has volunteered to be the Baronial Chirurgeon. The motion was made, voted on and approved to accept her in this position.

Canton Reports:

Charlesbury Crossing: New A&S Officer, Lady Annora. Lady Aminah has agreed to stay on as Seneschale for another six months. They are looking at a possible archery site but will need a Marshal to look at it.

Baelfire Dunn: Drums of War is moving to April 6th-8th. So look forward to cooler weather, an Easter Egg Hunt and one of Lady Murienne's fantastic feasts. (Remember the Fighter Fashion Show). The theme will be The Hundred Years War., French against the English. Themed A&S activities are planned as well as a brewing competition, a drumming competition, and a baronial heraldic banner competition. Stay tuned for more info.

Aire Falcon: We are still meeting. A&S is on hiatus until after Jan. 1st.

Crois Brigitte: We are alive and well. We have Spiked SADD for the 2nd week of Sept. Archers from outside the barony will be bringing targets. Contact Christophe of Gray for more info.

Salisbury Glen: Lady Elunid has stepped up as Seneschale. They had a very successful demo at Erwin Elementary Middle School. Middlegate will sponsor St. Urho's for Salisbury Glen.

MiddleGate: Versus of the Stone is coming up in January. It is a Roman themed event. Jan 14th is deadline for feast.

Old Business:

Canton status - After the recent meeting, it was decided that the cantons will remain in their current status as of now.

Other Business:

Wow Wrap-Up— Attendance 935 . Winners were Sacred Stone / Hawkwood

Receipts $16,053.00

Expenses $14,852.00

Profit $1,210.50

New Business:

WoW Fund—Much discussion took place about the WoW fund. In the past $4000 has been set aside as a dedicated fund to support WoW. After deducting this amount, the current balance in the baronial checking account would be approximately $6,100. The baronial storage building fee has already been paid for this year. A vote was taken and received a majority vote to allocate the $4000 to the WoW fund again this year. A second vote was taken to allocate an additional $1000 to the WoW fund to further build this dedicated fund. It also received a majority vote. One opposed.

WoW refund policy— After much discussion, a vote was taken and received a majority vote to modify the refund policy for WoW. It will be changed to all requests for refunds must be submitted one week before the close of land allocation. It is currently seven days after the event has occurred. There was one person opposed and two people abstained.

Regalia Fund Raiser— At Versus of the Stone an auction will be held to raise money for the Baronial regalia fund. If you have items you can contribute, please contact Lady Nuala.

Leisure Fabrics— Lady Nuala is working on organizing a trip to Leisure Fabrics in High Point in February. The owners have agreed to open it's doors to SCA members on a Saturday other than their normally scheduled 2nd Saturday of the month, provided we have enough people who want to go. Please let Lady Nuala (dalande AT gmail.com) know if you are interested in shopping for fabric on either of the last two Saturdays in Feb. She will then talk with the owners and announce which day the trip will be.

New Business Continued:

Southern Principality— The subject of becoming a Southern Pricipality was discussed at the baronial meeting in November. After discussions with the Barons and Baronesses and Seneschals of the affected baronies, it was decided to table this discussion at this time.

Number of Events— Concern has been raised that the barony has too many events on the calendar and has clogged up the calendar for other baronies.

Also, that Sacred Stone members do not travel to other events because there are so many events going on in our barony. There was also discussion about events being “cookie cutter” events with no originality. After a lengthy discussion by those present, there was a consensus that these concerns had no validity. Sacred Stone members often make up a large contingent of attendees at other baronies’ events.

There was also a discussion of moving from the baronial yahoo group to a official Kingdom server. That vote was tabled until next month.

CONFESSIONS OF A GARBAHOLIC

As Told By 'T'

I don't know when it was I first became aware of the seriousness of garb. Perhaps it was when a well-meaning gentle asked me, "So what did you bring to wear to the feast?" What? Was I supposed to bring something MORE? Over and above my one and only piece of day garb? I was doing well enough to remember my feastgear, much less another piece of clothing, thank you very much!

Ah, but at the feast! Gentles came out wearing glorious outfits of sumptuous fabrics. Norman garb rubbed shoulders with Tudor, Burgundian with Viking. It was a feast for the eyes, with the myriad fashions and luscious colors. I scrunched down in my chair and hoped no one would see me (and if they did, they would take pity on a poor newbie and ignore me).

But I was hooked.

Eavesdropping on conversations, I learned that curtains make wonderful garb. Feeling like Scarlett O'Hara, I haunted garage sales (always on the guard against rubber-backed material, of course. Much too hot.) I learned that the sales tables at fabric stores were great places to pick up 6, 8, even 10 or more yards of fabric for little more than what it cost to fill the gas tank in my car. I became a regular at the fabric stores to the point where the clerks knew my name and were inquiring about my health. I found out that you can make garb out of just about anything, as long as it looks 'period'. (Unless, of course, you are entering it in an Arts and Sciences contest. Then you have to grow the flax and linen and wool yourself, card it, spin it, dye it, weave it, cut it out with hand-made scissors, and handstitch it with homemade, hand-forged needles and pins. Something I plan to do when I retire, to keep myself occupied.)

I began making different kinds of garb. Simple day garb, more complex evening wear. I found that certain types of garb don't match certain kinds of activities --- for example, garb with long trains are wonderful and ever so romantic, but they are always getting stepped on (and you would think WE would know better!) and are (at least for me) almost impossible to dance in. Dresses with two or three layers or lined in fur are not the best for summer events (unless they are being held indoors in the anachronistic environment of an air conditioner), and Tudor's mostly good for standing around (never try to run in Tudor!). I discovered corsets. I also discovered the best thing about a corset is how you feel when you take it off. But corsets do have an advantage --- you can hardly eat a thing when you're wearing them (wonderful for dieting!). I also discovered that breathing in a corset is an acquired talent --- the first few times you wear one, it's mostly Zen breathing until you get the knack of it. (Once again, never try to run in Tudor!)

A wonderful thing happened when I began making new garb. People came up to me and complimented it! Of course, it was almost always followed by "But you should see Lady So-and-so's garb --- it's magnificent!" If asked where I had found the fabric and I told them (always on sale, of course!), the good gentles would respond, "That's great! But you should see Lord Such- and-such's garb --- he took three army duffle bags and his son's dirty bib and made Tudor garb that looks like it stepped from the pages of history!"

So of course, spurred on by the compliments and the comparisons, I began to reach for greater heights. I lived at the library, pouring over the books with pictures of medieval garb (one librarian once remarked to another, "I don't understand...she seems intelligent, but all she does it look at the pictures."). I plotted patterns, cutting them out over and over on paper until they worked just right. I became an expert on fabrics, how they draped, how they cut, how they washed, and most of all, if they looked period or not. I lived for the times when trims went on sale, and began sabotaging my daily clothes for buttons ("These'll look great on that new tunic!" Snip, snip.)

I finally admitted that it might have gotten a little out of hand when I came home one day with some new fabric purchases and had no where to put them. Fabric flowed from everywhere! Draped from the curtain rods, thrown over chairs, piled on the couch and the coffee table, stuffed into my kitchen cupboards...I didn't own a dining room table anymore---it was now a support for a multitude of fabrics! Finally I put my new purchases (on sale, of course!) in the bathtub (temporarily), and took stock of my situation. The only clear spot in my entire home was in the sewing room --- there was enough room, if you kicked the trims out of the way, to lay out a pattern. A slender path from there wove between tilting stacks of material and leaning towers of folded and refolded patterns (cut out of typing paper, tissue paper, paper bags, plastic, fabric too ugly to wear, and my favorite, leftover Christmas wrapping) to the sewing machine, whose light was constantly burning (rather like an eternal flame). My check-book had nothing but fabric stores written in the register (or else people's names --- from their garage sales), and I would rather make garb than see a movie! (Unless, of course, it was a historical one...) It was time I made a change.

Sitting on a pile of tapestry, velvet and brocade, I estimated that it would take me approximately 423 years (give or take a few months) to make all the fabric I owned into garb. I admitted that I was putting off paying bills to buy new material. I admitted that I loved the feel of fabric sliding through my fingers, of holding it up to admire in the light, of planning what piece of garb would come out of what piece of material. I even loved the smell of fabric --- right down to the sizing they put in at the factory.

Enough! I resolved then and there to quit buying fabric, to work with what I had purchased, to be satisfied with what I had, to be a responsible adult and not get so carried away. I put on my coat and grabbed the car keys, checking my purse for my Visa card. I resolved to be strong and resist temptation, to ignore the late afternoon calls of unbought fabric --- "Take me home, 'T'. I need a good home. Aren't I lovely? Wouldn't I look good with that teal broad-cloth you bought last week?"

I resolved, as I got into my car and backed out the driveway, to go through my fabric and --- gasp --- sort out that which I really didn't need and sell it. I resolved to turn my energies to another task, perhaps gardening or nuclear science. I resolved to do all of this --- tomorrow.

After all, Fabric World is having a half-price sale and it ends today.

Lady Therica Ysabeau Talia Anne of Stonegate Manor

Editor's Note: I found this article on Stefan's Florilegium and being a bit of a Garbalcoholic myself, I thought some of you might enjoy it too.

Day in the Park—April 28th. Free event at the park in Pineville where it was last year.

Herbal Collegium— June 2nd, 2012 Elchenburg. SCA cooks will do lunch. Classes on ground fire cooking, distilling, herbs.

Flight of the Falcon—August 18th, 2012

30th Year Baronial Birthday—Aug 31—Sept 1st., 2012

To be held at Hidden Mountain State Park at Camp York on Labor day weekend. There will be dancing, games and other activities. Hope to keep the weekend at $30 or less for the weekend including food. Some possible ideas for evening activities were to allow the cantons to host taverns to sell food. They will announce at the March meeting which cantons will be the ones who will be allowed to host the taverns on Friday and Saturday night. They are looking for period games of all types that could be used at the event.
